Prudence "Prudy" Brown

Died 10/18/2020

Prudy was born in Utica, NY and spent her growing up years there. She graduated from Wellesley College, with a major in French. She met her husband at a Christmas formal while there. After graduation, like many of her classmates, she went to secretarial school and got a job as secretary at Harvard University, while her husband attended MIT.

Dave was born at Mare Island, CA where his father was a Navy dentist. From there they moved to Washington, Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, Panama Canal Zone, and Massachusetts. He went to MIT for his BS and MS, and to Stanford for his PhD in electrical engineering. He spent his career working with electronic medical records for hospitals. He also taught classes in cybernetic systems part time at San Jose State. Prudy and Dave lived in Cupertino for 45 years until moving to SRC in June 2014. They have two children and four grandchildren.

Prudy worked as a part time secretary at Stanford until their first child was born. She has been a volunteer for English as a Second Language classes in the Santa Clara Adult Education program for many years. She has played recorder and krumhorn in an early music ensemble called Fantasia Musicale. Both Prudy and Dave enjoyed tennis and bridge. Dave also enjoys choral singing. Both enjoy Opera and river tours. Their favorite was the Rhine cruise from Amsterdam to Basel.
