

KAY OLSON

November 2, 1922 - August 8, 2006

Kay was born into a railroad family in Dunsmuir, CA and was schooled in Northern California and Oregon. While working as a secretary for a lumber company in Klamath Falls, OR she and a group of friends obtained contributions from town merchants and organized a Service Center for servicemen stationed in the vicinity. The group was known as the "Klamath Commandos." They also provided support for service people wounded in the Pacific.

Kay moved to San Francisco after WW II and took a job with Pacific Lumber Co. Later she married and moved to Saratoga where she and her husband lived for 20 years. At that time she worked for companies in the electronics industry. Later she and her husband operated an accounting service for small grocery store owners. Kay is now a widow, spending the past several years in a condo in Los Altos. She was happy to return to Saratoga.

Kay was a member of several professional organizations. She enjoys square dancing, golf, music and the theater. She is a pet lover and has had many cats and dogs during her lifetime.
