

Jan Reynolds

October 21, 1935 to October 5, 2017

Jan was born and raised in Mt. Vernon, Washington near Seattle where her family lived and had a furniture business in a remodeled barn. They moved south to Oregon for more sunshine and finally to Palo Alto where she graduated from Paly High. She met her late husband, Bill, when he moved next door. When they married, she didn't change her name, as her maiden name was also Reynolds. She worked as a technical secretary at SRI to put her husband through graduate school at Stanford where he eventually became chairman of the mechanical engineering department.

They raised three children in Los Altos Hills where they lived 36 years in a house Bill designed and built. They spent sabbatical years in London, Pennsylvania and Pasadena. Jan's favorite place to visit is France, and she has spent many years learning French. She has also sung for 15 years with the Aurora Singers, which included exchange visits and concerts with a chorale from Albi, France. Genealogy is another interest, and she hopes to find a link between the two Reynolds families.
