

Roberta London
Died May 8, 2019

Roberta was born and raised in Honolulu. she has vivid memories of the events of Dec. 7, 1941 at Pearl Harbor. Her home was only a few blocks away from the main harbor. She graduated from the University of Hawaii, majoring in sociology. She moved to California and attended San Jose State University where she obtained her teaching credential. After teaching both in Palo Alto, East Palo Alto and East San Jose schools for some time, she joined the Santa Clara County Social Services where she worked for 22 years before retiring. Roberta was married and has two daughters.

Roberta's present hobbies center around "scrap booking" in which she records her family history in "memory books", primarily for her grandchildren. Roberta has always enjoyed the companionship of dogs and presently has two terriers sharing her apartment. She has been involved in a variety of volunteer activities, such as delivering books as part of "Operation Home Bound," being a "Partner in Caring" through the Stanford Hospital, working in the Palo Alto Food Closet and serving at the Information Desk at the Santa Clara County Main Building. She has also been an active member of AAUW for a number of years.
